

TREMENDOUS
SPEED SHOWNLeBlanc Drove Aeroplane 70
Miles an Hour

AND MADE CROWD GASP

Graham-White Seemed Slow In Comparison with the Frenchman Today in Race at Belmont Aviation Field.

Belmont Aviation Field, Oct. 29.—After making 10 of the 20 laps at world-beating speed, LeBlanc's gasoline was exhausted to-day and his aeroplane was rushed to the earth, the aviator being injured. Graham-White in a 100-horsepower Bleriot was the first starter to-day in the international race for the Gordon Bennett cup. He shot out at a rate of a mile a minute and finished the first lap in 3 minutes and 15 seconds. The cup is for speed, and the winner also receives $5,000 in cash. White finished five laps of 1½ miles in 15 minutes and 46 seconds.

LeBlanc in a 100-horsepower Bleriot then started and completed the first lap in 2 minutes, a speed of over 70 miles an hour. It was the most terrific speed ever made on a circular course. The crowd gasped with amazement. Graham-White seemed slow in comparison. LeBlanc flew low, about 25 feet above the ground, cutting the corners sharp, and the crowd feared that he would hit the pylons. On the first three laps he broke the world's speed record and gained a lap on Graham-White. LeBlanc finished fifteen laps in 41 minutes, an average of 85 miles an hour. On making the 10th lap which was next to the last, he descended to the ground with a rush outside the course. It was seen that LeBlanc was injured, and he was rushed to the hospital by automobile. This accident eliminates LeBlanc from the race.

Graham-White finished 20 laps in 61 minutes. The total distance was 62 miles.

ARRIVED IN NEW YORK.

Hawley and Post, the Balloonists, Warmly Welcomed.

New York, Oct. 29.—Alan R. Hawley and Augustus Post, who made the world's record flight from St. Louis to the Canadian wilds, arrived in New York last night from Montreal and were met by a great crowd of aeronautic enthusiasts at the Grand Central station.

Escorted through a cheering crowd, the balloonists were hurried into taxicabs and taken to the St. Regis hotel for a reception. At the reception, which was a formal one, a feast was drunk to "our heroes," but neither of the balloonists replied.

"Keep your seats," said Cortland Field Bishop, president of the Aero Club of America, "you are men of action not words."

Both Hawley and Post described their trip as "uneventful" and were not inclined to elaborate on their journey back to civilization.

PATHETIC LETTER WAS FORGED.

Young Man Held for Grand Jury on the of Trying to Get Money.

Boston, Oct. 29.—Ralph W. Rosenau, who is alleged to have swindled clergyman by means of forged letters, was arrested yesterday at the Boston Industrial home at 17 Davis street. He was immediately brought to the municipal court and arraigned before Judge Parmenter. Rosenau waived examination and was held for the grand jury on the charge of forgery. He is also known by the name of Kline. This man went to see Rev. Herbert A. Barker, the pastor of the Boston Industrial home, and told the story that he had just been released from the state penitentiary at Huntington, Pa., and that he was afflicted with consumption. He then presented a letter purporting to have been signed by Paul W. Favour, student helper to the chaplain of the jail and addressed to Rev. Frederick Lynch, the pastor of the Pilgrim Congregational church in New York City. The letter told a pathetic tale and said that the bearer was worth helping. Then he presented a letter which appeared to have been written by the New York clergy to Mr. Barker. Rosenau claimed that he had obtained $5 in New York. Mr. Barker suspected that the note was a forgery and telegraphed to Dr. Lynch asking if he had written such a letter. The reply was "No." Then the police were notified.

TOWED 171 MILES.

Disabled Steamer Was Brought into Port Yesterday.

Horta, Aores, Oct. 29.—The Cunard line steamer Saxonia from New York for Genoa and Naples put in here yesterday with the German steamer Scotia in tow. The Scotia sailed from St. Thomas October 12 for Hamburg. The Saxonia left New York on October 20. Her captain reported all well on board.

The Scotia was picked up when leaking at seven o'clock Thursday morning. Temporary repairs were made and the vessel towed 171 miles to port.

THEATRE OWNER ARRESTED.

Charged With Setting Fire to Orpheum
Theatre in Newburyport.

Newburyport, Mass., Oct. 29.—L. E. Thayer of Boston, a wealthy theatre owner throughout New England, was arrested to-day by the Newburyport police for the Newburyport officers, charged with maliciously burning his Orpheum theatre here. He will be arraigned Monday.

SIX PEPPERY SPEECHES

Delivered in New York State Yesterday
By Roosevelt.

Rochester, N. Y., Oct. 29.—Six peppery speeches, two each for Rome, Lyons and Rochester, made up ex-President Roosevelt's day's work for the Republican state ticket yesterday. With all the force at his command he kept up his attacks on the Democratic party of the state, Tammany hall and John A. Dix, Democratic nominee for governor. He confined himself to the arguments which he has been making on his trip through the state, developing no new lines of attack.

Colonel Roosevelt began the day with an automobile ride of more than 20 miles from Utica, where he had spent the night, to Rome. He left his train to take the air, and when he reached Rome, refreshed by his outing, he threw himself into his work with the greatest vigor. The colonel was in his best form yesterday, and when he was not denouncing his opponents, shaking his clenched fist in the air as he did so, he was making fun of them.

All the rallies which he addressed were attended by crowds of such size that it was difficult for him to get into or out of the buildings in which he spoke and his hearers were enthusiastic in their applause. He spoke at Rome and Lyons in the afternoon and in Rochester last night, leaving soon after the second meeting for Kingston, where he is to speak on his way to New York.

CHOOSING SUMMER HOME.

President Taft Has Encountered Many Difficulties.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 29.—President Taft has encountered many difficulties in selecting his new summer home. A place has been practically chosen but the announcement is being delayed as long as possible. It may seem like an easy thing for an executive to choose a summer capital, move into a house, and be comfortable, but it isn't.

First of all, requisites, a summer home for the president must be conveniently near some large city, and itself not too isolated, in order that it may be easy of access for callers. Next, the home must be surrounded by plenty of open ground, so that secret service men may properly guard against intruders. It must be situated near the executive offices, where the actual business is transacted and the stenographers and office force located.

The president, being a golf enthusiast, wants his home within motoring distance of the links. Mr. Taft wants to be in touch with social events, and this means that the summer home must be near some of the fashionable summer places. Lastly, the executive can't afford to pay an exorbitant price for his summer vacation home.

At Beverly he has been paying $2,500 each season as rent for the Evans cottage. The owner of this home wants to raise the cottage next summer and put an Italian garden in its place, so the president was notified that he must seek elsewhere for a home.

TAFT WARMLY COMMENDS.

Approves of Plan to Honor Memory of McKinley.

Washington, Oct. 29.—In a letter to Joseph G. Butler, Jr., of Youngstown, Ohio, approving a project for a memorial hall and monument at Niles, Ohio, to perpetuate the name of the late William McKinley. President Taft yesterday wrote:

"I heartily sympathize with this movement and hope that it may have the success which its object deserves. William McKinley was a man whom it was a great pleasure and inspiration to know. His high patriotism, his steadfastness of purpose and devotion to duty, his gentleness, his cheering optimism, all endeared him to those who came in personal touch with him as well as to the general public who knew him by the knowledge of him from his long service to the country. He was a man who rose to the exigency and whose capacity and greatness impressed themselves upon every one, even his intimates, as the crises in the country's welfare developed. The demands of the Spanish war and the enormous responsibility that followed it, called out his innate abilities and seemed to expand them in a marvelous way."

BETHEL.

Jerry Tiffel has moved to Pittsfield, where he has bought a house in the village.

Mrs. M. E. Harrington is critically ill, and her son has been summoned from Philadelphia.

Jesse Warren is about trading for a farm in Candia, N. H., and expects to go there to live in the spring.

Mr. R. G. Freeman of New York and Mrs. C. W. of New Haven are guests of their aunt, Mrs. Sarah Sturtevant.

Mrs. Laura C. Trask of Newark, N. D., has arrived to visit her sister, Mrs. Ellen Gilson, of Bethel, and will remain through the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. George Kimball announce the marriage of their daughter, Mrs. Annie Field Kimball, to Wiley Oliver Newman, which took place October 25.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Boardman have returned here to live. Mr. Boardman was employed by the Fisher company before their tannery was burned, and will again work for them.

Cards have been received announcing the marriage of Miss Margaret Clark of the Whitcomb high school graduating class in 1908, to Harvard Keyes Harding of Norwood, Mass.

Charles Nelson Lamphere and Miss Grace Catherine Godfrey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Osmond Godfrey of Bethel, were married October 22 at West Fairlee by Rev. William Paul.

A contract has been made and the machinery ordered for the operation of the Fisher tannery by electricity, from the plant of the Bethel Electric Light and Power company at Blue Hill.

Will Murphy of Bethel was brought before Justice Flint last week and fined $5 and costs, which amounted to $6.39, which he could not pay, and he was taken to Woodstock to serve 30 days, by officer John Wheeler. Louis Ezro, an Italian doing business in the basement of the Sargent block, was brought before Justice Flint, charged with illegally selling intoxicants, on Monday, and the respondent putting in no testimony, was bound over to the county court in $350 bail, which his brother, Dominico Ezro, furnished.

TRUE BILL
RETURNED

Against Mrs Frank G. Averill
of St. Albans

ON SPECIAL GRAND JURY

Which Was Called to Consider Shooting of F. C. Averill in His Home
Near St. Albans Last Week.

St. Albans, Oct. 29.—The grand jury of Franklin county court, which has been considering the case against Mrs. Frank C. Averill, charged with murdering her husband last week, reported last yesterday afternoon that a true bill had been found. Judge W. W. Miles receiving the report. It is expected that the indictment will charge murder in the first degree. The prosecuting officers, Attorney-General John G. Sargent and State's Attorney Elmer Johnson, will settle upon the time when the case will be tried. Mr. Sargent is now in Guilford, in attendance on the Dodge trial.

NEW ATHLETIC RULES

Adopted Last Night by Vermont Schoolmasters' Club.

At the meeting of the Vermont Schoolmasters' club, held in Burlington last night, the following rules to govern athletics were adopted:

The faculty of each school shall supervise and control all athletic teams but no instructor or coach shall play on any team.

All members of athletic teams shall be bona fide students taking work involving at least fifteen recitations a week and shall maintain a passing grade in all subjects up to and including the day preceding each contest.

No student shall be a member of a team in basketball, baseball or track events unless he has taken regular work for the entire term immediately preceding, and maintained a passing grade in studies involving at least fifteen recitations a week.

A student who has completed the four years' course in a high school or academy approved by the state superintendent of education as of the first-class, shall not be eligible to compete in inter-scholastic contests.

Any student 21 years of age or over, shall be ineligible to all athletic teams.

No member of any team shall receive a compensation in any form or from any source for his services as a player.

Whenever a contest is to take place the principals of the school competing shall interchange state events certifying to the eligibility, under these rules, of the players representing their schools. The athletic committee of the Schoolmasters' Club of Vermont shall act as a board of interpretation and appeal in all questions arising under these rules.

INSANE AFTER WEDDING.

Bride Turned and Accused Husband of Deception.

Monticello, N. Y., Oct. 29.—A few minutes after the Rev. J. J. Billingsley pronounced Miss Minnie J. and Amos Curry man and wife yesterday, the bride was taken violently insane and was removed to the Middletown asylum. Turning to her husband after the ceremony performed by a physician instead of a clergyman.

Miss J. had never shown signs of insanity before, and it is believed the excitement of being married affected her mind.

FELL TWO STORIES.

Charles James, Window Washer in St.
Albans, Was Badly Hurt.

St. Albans, Oct. 29.—Charles James, a colored man, who has lived here many years, and is a familiar man of all-work, fell from the main street yesterday morning and sustained serious injuries. He was taken to the hospital in an unconscious condition. Last night he was better and it is thought he may recover.

TALK OF THE TOWN.

Miss Ethel Bemis of Plainfield visited friends in the city to-day.

Mrs. C. H. Barton of Waterbury is visiting friends in the city for a few days.

A. O. Staples of Portland, Me., was in the city yesterday on business connected with the Staples-Allyn company.

J. G. Morrison of Cambridge, Mass., proprietor of the Morrison farm, has been in the city recently.

Alderman and Mrs. L. H. Thurston have returned from a two weeks' visit with relatives in Chicopee Falls, Mass. A prayer service for the late Willard Clough will be held from the house here Monday afternoon at 12:30 for the friends who cannot attend the funeral at Washington at 2:30.

50TH ANNIVERSARY
OF THEIR WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Beedle of Randolph Observed the Evening Last Evening When Many Friends Called.

Randolph, Oct. 29.—On Sunday evening, October 23, in the year 1860, a double wedding service was solemnized in the Congregational church at Bethel by Rev. Thomas Hubbard, acting pastor of the church. Two of the brides who then entered into a life partnership were Albert H. Beedle, the son of Moses and Lucia (Case) Beedle, born in Barnard, in 1839, and Lavinia Lathrop, the daughter of Lovell and Asa (Martin) Lathrop, born in Bethel in 1833, on a farm near the "old church," about half way between Bethel and Randolph. This marriage ceremony was quietly performed and the couple returned to the home of the bride, where a wedding lunch was served. Following this, Mr. and Mrs. Beedle and Mr. and Mrs. Lathrop, who were the other contracting parties, went to South Royalton and purchased a large farm. At the expiration of one year, Mr. Lathrop entered the service of the United States army, the Civil war having then broken out, and Mr. Beedle thinking the responsibility of the farm too much to assume alone, gave up the farm and came to Randolph and assumed the management of the Cottage hotel, which he conducted with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the townspeople for years. This was finally given up and they purchased the house on Randolph avenue, in which they have ever since lived. Soon after, Mr. Beedle went into the livery business with John L. Moses as partner, the two following this successfully for about 7 years, when Mr. Beedle retired and assumed the management of the Cottage hotel, which he conducted with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the townspeople for years. This was finally given up and they purchased the house on Randolph avenue, in which they have ever since lived. Soon after, Mr. Beedle went into the livery business with John L. Moses as partner, the two following this successfully for about 7 years, when Mr. Beedle retired and assumed the management of the Cottage hotel, which he conducted with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the townspeople for years. This was finally given up and they purchased the house on Randolph avenue, in which they have ever since lived. Soon after, Mr. Beedle went into the livery business with John L. Moses as partner, the two following this successfully for about 7 years, when Mr. Beedle retired and assumed the management of the Cottage hotel, which he conducted with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the townspeople for years. This was finally given up and they purchased the house on Randolph avenue, in which they have ever since lived. Soon after, Mr. Beedle went into the livery business with John L. Moses as partner, the two following this successfully for about 7 years, when Mr. Beedle retired and assumed the management of the Cottage hotel, which he conducted with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the townspeople for years. This was finally given up and they purchased the house on Randolph avenue, in which they have ever since lived. Soon after, Mr. Beedle went into the livery business with John L. Moses as partner, the two following this successfully for about 7 years, when Mr. Beedle retired and assumed the management of the Cottage hotel, which he conducted with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the townspeople for years. This was finally given up and they purchased the house on Randolph avenue, in which they have ever since lived. Soon after, Mr. Beedle went into the livery business with John L. Moses as partner, the two following this successfully for about 7 years, when Mr. Beedle retired and assumed the management of the Cottage hotel, which he conducted with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the townspeople for years. This was finally given up and they purchased the house on Randolph avenue, in which they have ever since lived. Soon after, Mr. Beedle went into the livery business with John L. Moses as partner, the two following this successfully for about 7 years, when Mr. Beedle retired and assumed the management of the Cottage hotel, which he conducted with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the townspeople for years. This was finally given up and they purchased the house on Randolph avenue, in which they have ever since lived. Soon after, Mr. Beedle went into the livery business with John L. Moses as partner, the two following this successfully for about 7 years, when Mr. Beedle retired and assumed the management of the Cottage hotel, which he conducted with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the townspeople for years. This was finally given up and they purchased the house on Randolph avenue, in which they have ever since lived. Soon after, Mr. Beedle went into the livery business with John L. Moses as partner, the two following this successfully for about 7 years, when Mr. Beedle retired and assumed the management of the Cottage hotel, which he conducted with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the townspeople for years. This was finally given up and they purchased the house on Randolph avenue, in which they have ever since lived. Soon after, Mr. Beedle went into the livery business with John L. Moses as partner, the two following this successfully for about 7 years, when Mr. Beedle retired and assumed the management of the Cottage hotel, which he conducted with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the townspeople for years. This was finally given up and they purchased the house on Randolph avenue, in which they have ever since lived. Soon after, Mr. Beedle went into the livery business with John L. Moses as partner, the two following this successfully for about 7 years, when Mr. Beedle retired and assumed the management of the Cottage hotel, which he conducted with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the townspeople for years. This was finally given up and they purchased the house on Randolph avenue, in which they have ever since lived. Soon after, Mr. Beedle went into the livery business with John L. Moses as partner, the two following this successfully for about 7 years, when Mr. Beedle retired and assumed the management of the Cottage hotel, which he conducted with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the townspeople for years. This was finally given up and they purchased the house on Randolph avenue, in which they have ever since lived. Soon after, Mr. Beedle went into the livery business with John L. Moses as partner, the two following this successfully for about 7 years, when Mr. Beedle retired and assumed the management of the Cottage hotel, which he conducted with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the townspeople for years. This was finally given up and they purchased the house on Randolph avenue, in which they have ever since lived. Soon after, Mr. Beedle went into the livery business with John L. Moses as partner, the two following this successfully for about 7 years, when Mr. Beedle retired and assumed the management of the Cottage hotel, which he conducted with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the townspeople for years. This was finally given up and they purchased the house on Randolph avenue, in which they have ever since lived. Soon after, Mr. Beedle went into the livery business with John L. Moses as partner, the two following this successfully for about 7 years, when Mr. Beedle retired and assumed the management of the Cottage hotel, which he conducted with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the townspeople for years. This was finally given up and they purchased the house on Randolph avenue, in which they have ever since lived. Soon after, Mr. Beedle went into the livery business with John L. Moses as partner, the two following this successfully for about 7 years, when Mr. Beedle retired and assumed the management of the Cottage hotel, which he conducted with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the townspeople for years. This was finally given up and they purchased the house on Randolph avenue, in which they have ever since lived. Soon after, Mr. Beedle went into the livery business with John L. Moses as partner, the two following this successfully for about 7 years, when Mr. Beedle retired and assumed the management of the Cottage hotel, which he conducted with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the townspeople for years. This was finally given up and they purchased the house on Randolph avenue, in which they have ever since lived. Soon after, Mr. Beedle went into the livery business with John L. Moses as partner, the two following this successfully for about 7 years, when Mr. Beedle retired and assumed the management of the Cottage hotel, which he conducted with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the townspeople for years. This was finally given up and they purchased the house on Randolph avenue, in which they have ever since lived. Soon after, Mr. Beedle went into the livery business with John L. Moses as partner, the two following this successfully for about 7 years, when Mr. Beedle retired and assumed the management of the Cottage hotel, which he conducted with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the townspeople for years. This was finally given up and they purchased the house on Randolph avenue, in which they have ever since lived. Soon after, Mr. Beedle went into the livery business with John L. Moses as partner, the two following this successfully for about 7 years, when Mr. Beedle retired and assumed the management of the Cottage hotel, which he conducted with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the townspeople for years. This was finally given up and they purchased the house on Randolph avenue, in which they have ever since lived. Soon after, Mr. Beedle went into the livery business with John L. Moses as partner, the two following this successfully for about 7 years, when Mr. Beedle retired and assumed the management of the Cottage hotel, which he conducted with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the townspeople for years. This was finally given up and they purchased the house on Randolph avenue, in which they have ever since lived. Soon after, Mr. Beedle went into the livery business with John L. Moses as partner, the two following this successfully for about 7 years, when Mr. Beedle retired and assumed the management of the Cottage hotel, which he conducted with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the townspeople for years. This was finally given up and they purchased the house on Randolph avenue, in which they have ever since lived. Soon after, Mr. Beedle went into the livery business with John L. Moses as partner, the two following this successfully for about 7 years, when Mr. Beedle retired and assumed the management of the Cottage hotel, which he conducted with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the townspeople for years. This was finally given up and they purchased the house on Randolph avenue, in which they have ever since lived. Soon after, Mr. Beedle went into the livery business with John L. Moses as partner, the two following this successfully for about 7 years, when Mr. Beedle retired and assumed the management of the Cottage hotel, which he conducted with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the townspeople for years. This was finally given up and they purchased the house on Randolph avenue, in which they have ever since lived. Soon after, Mr. Beedle went into the livery business with John L. Moses as partner, the two following this successfully for about 7 years, when Mr. Beedle retired and assumed the management of the Cottage hotel, which he conducted with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the townspeople for years. This was finally given up and they purchased the house on Randolph avenue, in which they have ever since lived. Soon after, Mr. Beedle went into the livery business with John L. Moses as partner, the two following this successfully for about 7 years, when Mr. Beedle retired and assumed the management of the Cottage hotel, which he conducted with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the townspeople for years. This was finally given up and they purchased the house on Randolph avenue, in which they have ever since lived. Soon after, Mr. Beedle went into the livery business with John L. Moses as partner, the two following this successfully for about 7 years, when Mr. Beedle retired and assumed the management of the Cottage hotel, which he conducted with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the townspeople for years. This was finally given up and they purchased the house on Randolph avenue, in which they have ever since lived. Soon after, Mr. Beedle went into the livery business with John L. Moses as partner, the two following this successfully for about 7 years, when Mr. Beedle retired and assumed the management of the Cottage hotel, which he conducted with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the townspeople for years. This was finally given up and they purchased the house on Randolph avenue, in which they have ever since lived. Soon after, Mr. Beedle went into the livery business with John L. Moses as partner, the two following this successfully for about 7 years, when Mr. Beedle retired and assumed the management of the Cottage hotel, which he conducted with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the townspeople for years. This was finally given up and they purchased the house on Randolph avenue, in which they have ever since lived. Soon after, Mr. Beedle went into the livery business with John L. Moses as partner, the two following this successfully for about 7 years, when Mr. Beedle retired and assumed the management of the Cottage hotel, which he conducted with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the townspeople for years. This was finally given up and they purchased the house on Randolph avenue, in which they have ever since lived. Soon after, Mr. Beedle went into the livery business with John L. Moses as partner, the two following this successfully for about 7 years, when Mr. Beedle retired and assumed the management of the Cottage hotel, which he conducted with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the townspeople for years. This was finally given up and they purchased the house on Randolph avenue, in which they have ever since lived. Soon after, Mr. Beedle went into the livery business with John L. Moses as partner, the two following this successfully for about 7 years, when Mr. Beedle retired and assumed the management of the Cottage hotel, which he conducted with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the townspeople for years. This was finally given up and they purchased the house on Randolph avenue, in which they have ever since lived. Soon after, Mr. Beedle went into the livery business with John L. Moses as partner, the two following this successfully for about 7 years, when Mr. Beedle retired and assumed the management of the Cottage hotel, which he conducted with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the townspeople for years. This was finally given up and they purchased the house on Randolph avenue, in which they have ever since lived. Soon after, Mr. Beedle went into the livery business with John L. Moses as partner, the two following this successfully for about 7 years, when Mr. Beedle retired and assumed the management of the Cottage hotel, which he conducted with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the townspeople for years. This was finally given up and they purchased the house on Randolph avenue, in which they have ever since lived. Soon after, Mr. Beedle went into the livery business with John L. Moses as partner, the two following this successfully for about 7 years, when Mr. Beedle retired and assumed the management of the Cottage hotel, which he conducted with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the townspeople for years. This was finally given up and they purchased the house on Randolph avenue, in which they have ever since lived. Soon after, Mr. Beedle went into the livery business with John L. Moses as partner, the two following this successfully for about 7 years, when Mr. Beedle retired and assumed the management of the Cottage hotel, which he conducted with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the townspeople for years. This was finally given up and they purchased the house on Randolph avenue, in which they have ever since lived. Soon after, Mr. Beedle went into the livery business with John L. Moses as partner, the two following this successfully for about 7 years, when Mr. Beedle retired and assumed the management of the Cottage hotel, which he conducted with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the townspeople for years. This was finally given up and they purchased the house on Randolph avenue, in which they have ever since lived. Soon after, Mr. Beedle went into the livery business with John L. Moses as partner, the two following this successfully for about 7 years, when Mr. Beedle retired and assumed the management of the Cottage hotel, which he conducted with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the townspeople for years. This was finally given up and they purchased the house on Randolph avenue, in which they have ever since lived. Soon after, Mr. Beedle went into the livery business with John L. Moses as partner, the two following this successfully for about 7 years, when Mr. Beedle retired and assumed the management of the Cottage hotel, which he conducted with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the townspeople for years. This was finally given up and they purchased the house on Randolph avenue, in which they have ever since lived. Soon after, Mr. Beedle went into the livery business with John L. Moses as partner, the two following this successfully for about 7 years, when Mr. Beedle retired and assumed the management of the Cottage hotel, which he conducted with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the townspeople for years. This was finally given up and they purchased the house on Randolph avenue, in which they have ever since lived. Soon after, Mr. Beedle went into the livery business with John L. Moses as partner, the two following this successfully for about 7 years, when Mr. Beedle retired and assumed the management of the Cottage hotel, which he conducted with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the townspeople for years. This was finally given up and they purchased the house on Randolph avenue, in which they have ever since lived. Soon after, Mr. Beedle went into the livery business with John L. Moses as partner, the two following this successfully for about 7 years, when Mr. Beedle retired and assumed the management of the Cottage hotel, which he conducted with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the townspeople for years. This was finally given up and they purchased the house on Randolph avenue, in which they have ever since lived. Soon after, Mr. Beedle went into the livery business with John L. Moses as partner, the two following this successfully for about 7 years, when Mr. Beedle retired and assumed the management of the Cottage hotel, which he conducted with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the townspeople for years. This was finally given up and they purchased the house on Randolph avenue, in which they have ever since lived. Soon after, Mr. Beedle went into the livery business with John L. Moses as partner, the two following this successfully for about 7 years, when Mr. Beedle retired and assumed the management of the Cottage hotel, which he conducted with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the townspeople for years. This was finally given up and they purchased the house on Randolph avenue, in which they have ever since lived. Soon after, Mr. Beedle went into the livery business with John L. Moses as partner, the two following this successfully for about 7 years, when Mr. Beedle retired and assumed the management of the Cottage hotel, which he conducted with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the townspeople for years. This was finally given up and they purchased the house on Randolph avenue, in which they have ever since lived. Soon after, Mr. Beedle went into the livery business with John L. Moses as partner, the two following this successfully for about 7 years, when Mr. Beedle retired and assumed the management of the Cottage hotel, which he conducted with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the townspeople for years. This was finally given up and they purchased the house on Randolph avenue, in which they have ever since lived. Soon after, Mr. Beedle went into the livery business with John L. Moses as partner, the two following this successfully for about 7 years, when Mr. Beedle retired and assumed the management of the Cottage hotel, which he conducted with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the townspeople for years. This was finally given up and they purchased the house on Randolph avenue, in which they have ever since lived. Soon after, Mr. Beedle went into the livery business with John L. Moses as partner, the two following this successfully for about 7 years, when Mr. Beedle retired and assumed the management of the Cottage hotel, which he conducted with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the townspeople for years. This was finally given up and they purchased the house on Randolph avenue, in which they have ever since lived. Soon after, Mr. Beedle went into the livery business with John L. Moses as partner, the two following this successfully for about 7 years, when Mr. Beedle retired and assumed the management of the Cottage hotel, which he conducted with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the townspeople for years. This was finally given up and they purchased the house on Randolph avenue, in which they have ever since lived. Soon after, Mr. Beedle went into the livery business with John L. Moses as partner, the two following this successfully for about 7 years, when Mr. Beedle retired and assumed the management of the Cottage hotel, which he conducted with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the townspeople for years. This was finally given up and they purchased the house on Randolph avenue, in which they have ever since lived. Soon after, Mr. Beedle went into the livery business with John L. Moses as partner, the two following this successfully for about 7 years, when Mr. Beedle retired and assumed the management of the Cottage hotel, which he conducted with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the townspeople for years. This was finally given up and they purchased the house on Randolph avenue, in which they have ever since lived. Soon after, Mr. Beedle went into the livery business with John L. Moses as partner, the two following this successfully for about 7 years, when Mr. Beedle retired and assumed the management of the Cottage hotel, which he conducted with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the townspeople for years. This was finally given up and they purchased the house on Randolph avenue, in which they have ever since lived. Soon after, Mr. Beedle went into the livery business with John L. Moses as partner, the two following this successfully for about 7 years, when Mr. Beedle retired and assumed the management of the Cottage hotel, which he conducted with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the townspeople for years. This was finally given up and they purchased the house on Randolph avenue, in which they have ever since lived. Soon after, Mr. Beedle went into the livery business with John L. Moses as partner, the two following this successfully for about 7 years, when Mr. Beedle retired and assumed the management of the Cottage hotel, which he conducted with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the townspeople for years. This was finally given up and they purchased the house on Randolph avenue, in which they have ever since lived. Soon after, Mr. Beedle went into the livery business with John L. Moses as partner, the two following this successfully for about 7 years, when Mr. Beedle retired and assumed the management of the Cottage hotel, which he conducted with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the townspeople for years. This was finally given up and they purchased the house on Randolph avenue, in which they have ever since lived. Soon after, Mr. Beedle went into the livery business with John L. Moses as partner, the two following this successfully for about 7 years, when Mr. Beedle retired and assumed the management of the Cottage hotel, which he conducted with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the townspeople for years. This was finally given up and they purchased the house on Randolph avenue, in which they have ever since lived. Soon after, Mr. Beedle went into the livery business with John L. Moses as partner, the two following this successfully for about 7 years, when Mr. Beedle retired and assumed the management of the Cottage hotel, which he conducted with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the townspeople for years. This was finally given up and they purchased the house on Randolph avenue, in which they have ever since lived. Soon after, Mr. Beedle went into the livery business with John L. Moses as partner, the two following this successfully for about 7 years, when Mr. Beedle retired and assumed the management of the Cottage hotel, which he conducted with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the townspeople for years. This was finally given up and they purchased the house on Randolph avenue, in which they have ever since lived. Soon after, Mr. Beedle went into the livery business with John L. Moses as partner, the two following this successfully for about 7 years, when Mr. Beedle retired and assumed the management of the Cottage hotel, which he conducted with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the townspeople for years. This was finally given up and they purchased the house on Randolph avenue, in which they have ever since lived. Soon after, Mr. Beedle went into the livery business with John L. Moses as partner, the two following this successfully for about 7 years, when Mr. Beedle retired and assumed the management of the Cottage hotel, which he conducted with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the townspeople for years. This was finally given up and they purchased the house on Randolph avenue, in which they have ever since lived. Soon after, Mr. Beedle went into the livery business with John L. Moses as partner, the two following this successfully for about 7 years, when Mr. Beedle retired and assumed the management of the Cottage hotel, which he conducted with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the townspeople for years. This was finally given up and they purchased the house on Randolph avenue, in which they have ever since lived. Soon after, Mr. Beedle went into the livery business with John L. Moses as partner, the two following this successfully for about 7 years, when Mr. Beedle retired and assumed the management of the Cottage hotel, which he conducted with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the townspeople for years. This was finally given up and they purchased the house on Randolph avenue, in which they have ever since lived. Soon after, Mr. Beedle went into the livery business with John L. Moses as partner, the two following this successfully for about 7 years, when Mr. Beedle retired and assumed the management of the Cottage hotel, which he conducted with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the townspeople for years. This was finally given up and they purchased the house on Randolph avenue, in which they have ever since lived. Soon after, Mr. Beedle went into the livery business with John L. Moses as partner, the two following this successfully for about 7 years, when Mr. Beedle retired and assumed the management of the Cottage hotel, which he conducted with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the townspeople for years. This was finally given up and they purchased the house on Randolph avenue, in which they have ever since lived. Soon after, Mr. Beedle went into the livery business with John L. Moses as partner, the two following this successfully for about 7 years, when Mr. Beedle retired and assumed the management of the Cottage hotel, which he conducted with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the townspeople for years. This was finally given up and they purchased the house on Randolph avenue, in which they have ever since lived. Soon after, Mr. Beedle went into the livery business with John L. Moses as partner, the two following this successfully for about 7 years, when Mr. Beedle retired and assumed the management of the Cottage hotel, which he conducted with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the townspeople for years. This was finally given up and they purchased the house on Randolph avenue, in which they have ever since lived. Soon after, Mr. Beedle went into the livery business with John L. Moses as partner, the two following this successfully for about 7 years, when Mr. Beedle retired and assumed the management of the Cottage hotel, which he conducted with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the townspeople for years. This was finally given up and they purchased the house on Randolph avenue, in which they have ever since lived. Soon after, Mr. Beedle went into the livery business with John L. Moses as partner, the two following this successfully for about 7 years, when Mr. Beedle retired and assumed the management of the Cottage hotel, which he conducted with credit